Tēnā koe Timothy Mark

Because of the length of time you've been out of the country, I wanted to let you know we need to stop your payments for now.

The information we have from Customs shows you left on 13 November 2025 on flight number QF120. We've updated your record with this information.

Government agencies like MSD and Customs work together to make sure our information is up to date and we give you the right services.

About your payments

Thanks for telling us you were leaving the country. We have stopped your payments from 14 November 2025.

Please get in touch when you're back in the country. We can start these payments again from the date you return. We may be able to start your payments earlier depending on your reason for being overseas.

Let us know if this is wrong

If you think this information is wrong, we need to hear from you as soon as possible.

You can call us on 0800 909 900. You'll find our opening hours over the page. Please tell us your client number 369-295-612 so we can help you quicker.

If we don't hear from you, we'll review your payments based on the information we have. We'll write to you again to let you know the outcome of our review.

MyMSD makes it easy

Most people find the easiest way to let us know about their travel plans is online using MyMSD. Go to www.my.msd.govt.nz to log in and select the 'Something has changed' option.

To contact us visit www.workandincome.govt.nz/contact

We're here to help

I've included a fact sheet with this letter that tells you about information-sharing across government. This includes what to do if you don't agree with a decision we make.

Please feel free to call us on 0800 909 900 if you have questions or there are things you don't understand – we're here to help.

MSD information sharing

Ministry of Social Development (MSD) includes StudyLink, Work and Income and Senior Services. You can look up the legislation mentioned here online at www.legislation.govt.nz.

So we can make sure we pay you the right amount of money, we regularly compare information with other government agencies through information-matching and sharing programmes. This includes the New Zealand Customs Service under the Customs and Excise Act 2018 and Section 22 of the New Zealand Superannuation and Retirement Act 2001. The Privacy Commissioner oversees these programmes under the Privacy Act 2020.

If we find the information we have about you is different from another agency, we may need to change the services we give you. We'll write to let you know about this when we take any action. If you think the information New Zealand Customs Service gave us is wrong, please get in touch with us so we can talk about this.

Overseas travel can affect your payments

If you plan to travel overseas, you need to let us know the dates you'll leave and come back and check if you can get payments while you're away.

If you don't let us know before you go, we may need to stop your payments.

If you get in touch when you get back, we can restart your payments from the date you arrived back in New Zealand. If you qualified for payments when you were away, we can restart these from the date they stopped.

The law that applies here is the Social Security Act 2018.

Things we can do when your situation changes

It's important to tell us straight away about any changes that could affect your payments, like when your contact details, work or living situation changes, or you're leaving the country.

When you tell us your situation has changed, or if we find out through an information matching programme, we may review your payments and:

- ask you for more information (see below)
- in some cases, turn down an application for payments, or either temporarily or permanently stop your payments
- if needed, require you to pay back money you may owe us if we paid you too much. We can take this money out of your payments from us
- or we might have to take legal action against you or add a penalty payment to a debt if you acted illegally

If you're getting services from Work and Income, we do this under schedule 6 and part 6, subpart 3 of the Social Security Act 2018. If you're a student, we do this under Schedule 9, clause 3 of the Education and Training Act 2020.

Collecting your information

Where we ask you for more information, we do this to make sure we've paid, or are paying, you the right amount and can avoid over paying you (which would mean you have to pay money back). We'll give you a reasonable amount of time to get the information. You have the right to choose not to give us this information.

If you don't provide the information we ask for, we'll either:

- review your payments based on the information we already have, or
- get in touch with another person or organisation for this information. They have to give us this under schedule 6 of the Social Security Act 2018 (Work and Income clients), and under Schedule 9, clause 3 of the Education and Training Act 2020 (students).

MSD will hold the information and only certain people working at MSD can look at it. You can ask to see your information and ask us to correct it.

We follow a Code of Conduct when getting information under the Social Security Act. You have the right to complain to the Office of the Privacy Commissioner if you think we haven't done this. You can read the Code online at www.msd.govt.nz or call us on 0800 909 333 to ask for a copy.

Your rights when you disagree with a decision we make

If you don't understand or agree with a decision we make, please call us so we can explain it. You have the right to ask us to review a decision you think is wrong. You can use the review of decision application form on our website, or write to us. We need to get this within three months.

If you have a good reason why you can't ask for a review within three months, get in touch. We may still be able to review the decision. You can find out more online at www.workandincome.govt.nz/rights or by giving us a call.

You can do most things with us using MyMSD

- See a breakdown of your weekly payments and any money you owe us
- Make, check and change appointments
- Update your information
- Read letters from us
- Tell us when you go overseas

Go to www.my.msd.govt.nz to log in.

Get in touch if you have any questions - we're here to help

Everyone's situation is different so we're always happy to talk things through with you.
